About Nancy Latady:

Nancy Latady is founder of Latady Physician Strategies, a national medical practice business development and marketing firm established over two decades ago. Since 2011, Nancy has specialized in helping physicians successfully create and grow innovative Direct Primary Care (DPC), Concierge, and Hybrid membership models – guiding over 50 physician practices through the inherent business development, financial, operational, marketing, and sales challenges.

Nancy Latady has over 30 years of marketing, management, and business development experience in the healthcare industry. With early and varied career roles as a provider, manager, physician recruiter and liaison, hospital marketer/planner, and business strategy consultant to medical practices and health care business start-ups, Nancy brings a unique perspective and valuable experience to her clients. Nancy has an MBA degree from Boston University and BS degree from the University of New Hampshire.
