

Five Things to Consider to Obtain a Los Angeles City Cannabis License

Nelson Hardiman partner, Aaron Lachant, spoke last week at the MMLG Cannabis Compliance Kickoff Event about the five most important things for businesses to consider before obtaining their Los Angeles City license:

1. Get started now if applying for a cannabis license in Los Angeles;
2. Secure adequate capital;
3. Improve community relationships;
4. Develop a compelling narrative for your cannabis business; and
5. Hire professionals that reflect positively on your business.

For more information about the local and state cannabis licensing process, or to obtain the 25-Point Checklist referenced in the video, please contact Teddy Blum of MMLG at info@mmlg.com and 310.449.4528.