

Addiction Treatment Centers Reimbursed by Major Health Insurer After Nelson Hardiman Steps In

Nelson Hardiman favorably resolved a major reimbursement dispute between a large health insurer and numerous addiction treatment centers. The health insurer had refused to pay the centers alleging fraudulent activity. Nelson Hardiman stepped in and negotiated confidential settlement agreements whereby our clients received payment for their claims and the insurer released their claims against our clients. We achieved this favorable result efficiently and cost-effectively without having to file expensive and time-consuming lawsuits, in large part, because of our deep industry knowledge and prior experience negotiating with the health insurer's counsel.
